Code of conduct

The Karwendel Nature Park covers almost the entire Karwendel massif and, with an area of 727 km², is Tyrol's largest protected area. Due to the climatic and topographical conditions, the Karwendel has an above-average proportion of natural habitats such as primeval forests and wild rivers and is home to a high diversity of species: many typical animal and plant species of the Alps such as the golden eagle, the common sandpiper or the German tamarisk (floodplain plant) have significant populations here.

Due to the sensitivity of the area, the following rules of conduct apply, which must be observed by all participants of the Karwendelmarsch:

- All plants and animals are completely protected! Do not pick flowers, do not collect mushrooms and berries, do not pursue animals!
- Listen to nature and refrain from making unnecessary noise.
- Take your rubbish back with you. Only then can other visitors enjoy the beauty of the Karwendel.
- Stay on the marked trails! Hikers and runners who take shortcuts on steep terrain contribute significantly to erosion. Animals get used more easily to people who always keep to the same paths and are thus hardly disturbed. This applies particularly to the Hohljoch - Eng section of the Karwendel March and the Binsalm - Gramai area.
- Dogs are not allowed on the entire route.
- Respect the rights and property of the landowners and farmers. Do not walk or camp in meadows, do not damage huts and fences.

Pasture animals

An alpine pasture is not a petting zoo - show respect for grazing livestock and game. A certain amount of caution is required when hikers encounter alpine cattle. In order to avoid dangerous situations, some recommendations should be followed and important behaviour patterns of the alpine animals should be known. Detailed information on the rules of conduct can be found in the folder "An alpine pasture is not a petting zoo!"

Conditions of competition

I am aware that my participation involves a certain risk. I hereby confirm that the organiser of the event cannot be held liable for any injuries I may suffer. My participation in this sporting event is voluntary. I am in possession of a valid personal liability insurance policy and a personal accident insurance policy covering my participation. Should I cause damage to someone else or damage their property, I will accept responsibility for this and guarantee that the organiser ARGE Karwendelmarsch will not suffer any damage in this regard.

I will not make any claims against the organisers and sponsors or against the neighbouring communities or their representatives for damages and injuries of any kind that I might suffer as a result of my participation.

For my own safety and the safety of all other participants, I pledge to abide by the safety and conduct rules laid down by the organisers. I also acknowledge that there may be access restrictions on the day of the event, which I must comply with.

I declare that I have trained sufficiently for participation in this competition, that I am physically healthy and that my state of health has been confirmed by a doctor.

The emergency services of the Tyrolean Mountain Rescue will support the participants along the entire route and ensure that the event runs safely. I agree that the emergency personnel can take me out of the competition in case of unstable health conditions and I will follow their instructions.

The organizer reserves the right to withdraw any participant who appears unable to complete the course within the time limit or reach the finish line. Such runners will be approached by the mountain rescue team/last runner/course marshals and instructed to end the race.

If there are special Covid-19 measures in place at the time of the event (e.g. 2G, 2G+ or 3G) I acknowledge that I will only be able to take part in the event if I meet this requirement, and that otherwise I will be excluded from the event.

I agree that the data provided in my registration may be used for promotional purposes. I assure that my date of birth given is correct and that I will not pass on my race number to another person without the knowledge of the organiser. I am aware that I will be disqualified if I alter the official race number in any way, in particular if I make the advertising imprint invisible or unrecognisable.

I acknowledge that the organiser reserves the right to exclude me from the event in case of proven violation of the above obligations.

Note according to data protection law: Your data will be read by machine!

Photo consent

ARGE Karwendelmarsch has the right to make audio recordings, video recordings and photographs during the event and to use these, as well as my name, pictures of me, my voice for any purpose (be it for merchandising, commercial, promotional material, editorial or otherwise) across all media for an unlimited period of time.

ARGE Karwendelmarsch is entitled to use the recorded material for its own purposes, to broadcast, transmit, display, reproduce and/or make the material publicly accessible and available through any medium. The use of the material includes the media print and internet, but is not limited to these.

ARGE Karwendelmarsch is entitled to modify the recorded material in any way and without restriction. This includes short-term interruption, cutting and other types of modification to and with the material.

Furthermore, ARGE Karwendelmarsch is entitled to pass on the rights made available to you to third parties. Selection and use of any material does not require my consent.

I am also aware that I may not be named as a participant in the event. Should I nevertheless be named in connection with the event or appear on event material, I do not expect any financial benefit from this.

THANK YOU

YOUR TEAM KARWENDELMARSCH
